Bonava named most active housing developer in Germany

Bonava is Germany's most active housing developer for the seventh consecutive year, according to the annual survey that was recently conducted by independent consulting company bulwiengesa.

- We are very proud to, for the seventh consecutive year, be named the most active project developer for residential real estate and thus creates the most living space in the German metropolises. This is now Bonava's largest market – in 2018 net sales in Germany increased by 14 per cent compared to 2017 – and the bulwiengesa result is an evidence that our strategy to offer affordable housing is working very well, says Joachim Hallengren, President and CEO of Bonava.

Every year, the independent consulting company bulwiengesa identifies Germany's most active property developer. The analysis includes the number of square metres developed in Germany's largest property markets (Berlin, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Frankfurt am Main, Hamburg, Munich and Stuttgart) in the housing, office, retail and hotel sectors.
